Issue 36 Millennium Edition

Academic 1 2003-04

What a busy summer!

I hope that everyone had an enjoyable summer. Mine was filled with music (as you may have guessed). In addition to performances with the Capitol Dinner Theatre (Cabaret) I performed for several weddings and cocktail hours. One of my playing engagements was on the Pride of the Susquehana!

News from Nashville

As the result of an award for adjunct faculty professional development given to me by HACC I was again able to attend the NAMM convention in Nashville, TN. As always it's an exciting time where I get to preview the newest gear and hear world-class musicians performing, even during breakfast!

Interesting Projects

My music-related services included recording, transfer of audio from LP to CD and duplication. A good friend and wonderful musician, Dante Sobrevilla, cut the tracks for his CD at my studio. It was mixed at Progressive Studios and sounds great. If you want to hear some outstanding Latin music, you must buy this CD. I will have it for sale in the studio.

The Spring CD

The final steps are being taken, and I anticipate a finished product by early September.

Speaking of CD's...

If you have an audio recording of a relative that you would like to preserve give me a call. Recently I transferred, from 78RPM records, a performance of "The Christmas Story" by Heinrich Schuetz that was recorded in 1950. With special digital processing I was able to improve the sound quality, and splice the performance together from 7 record sides. The noise from the records was all but eliminated, and the artwork, including a picture of the choir and a related newspaper article makes this project a very memorable and special keepsake.

This year's Music Camps...

Sponsored by HACC, were an overwhelming success. I had a small but attentive and highly motivated group of high school students from the greater Harrisburg area. In fact, several have indicated they will pursue their studies of MIDI by taking my on-line course.

RG Rhoades – Online Education

No, I'm not giving online lessons – yet! However, I will be teaching my classes, Music Business and the Internet (Marketing 111) and MIDI and Computer Applications (Marketing 226) online, as part of the distance education program for HACC.
